Making sure your child attends school every day

In New Zealand school is so important that the law says parents and carers must make sure their child between 6 and 16 years old attends every day.

Does my child have to go to school every day?

Yes, your child must go to school every day. Under the Education Act 1989, parents and carers of children between 6 and 16 years old can be prosecuted if their child is away from school without a good reason.

Why do they need to go every day?

Going to school every day really is the key to getting the best out of school because:

- it sets up good habits for going to school right from day one
- learning to read, write and do maths takes a lot of practice and is easier to master if your child goes to school regularly
- each day is a chance to learn something new
- school offers your child regular, dedicated help to master the many skills they need
- school teaches your child life skills like commitment, being reliable, having a good work ethic and sticking with things when they get hard.

What if my child needs to be away from school?

Your child should go to school every day. But sometimes your child might need to be away from school because they are too sick to attend, have an appointment or need to be at a tangi or funeral.

If your child is going to be away from school you should let the school know as soon as possible. You can phone the school on 5736558 or utilize our QCC phone app under attendance, or email admin@qcc.school.nz. You will need to let them know that they will be away, why and for how long.

Your child's safety and wellbeing is a priority for the school. If your child doesn't turn up to school they need to know that your child is safely at home with you, or their carer. If the school doesn't hear from you, they will get in touch with you to make sure your child is okay.

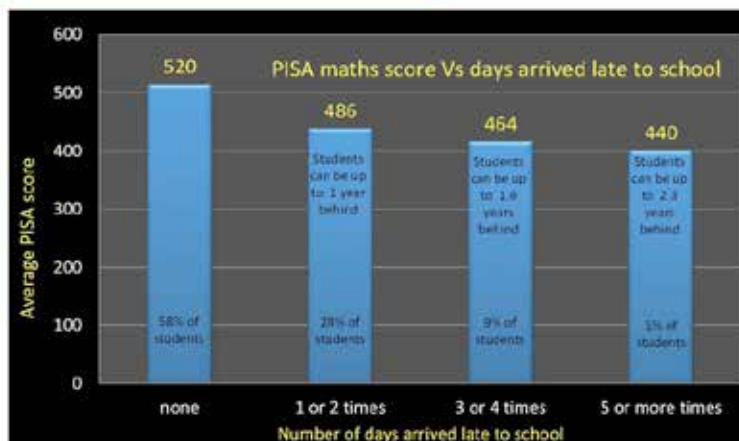

Can I take my child out of school during term time to go on holiday?

No, a holiday is not a good enough reason to take your child out of school, so holidays should be planned outside of term time.

Events like a birthday or a special day's shopping aren't considered valid reasons for being away from school either.

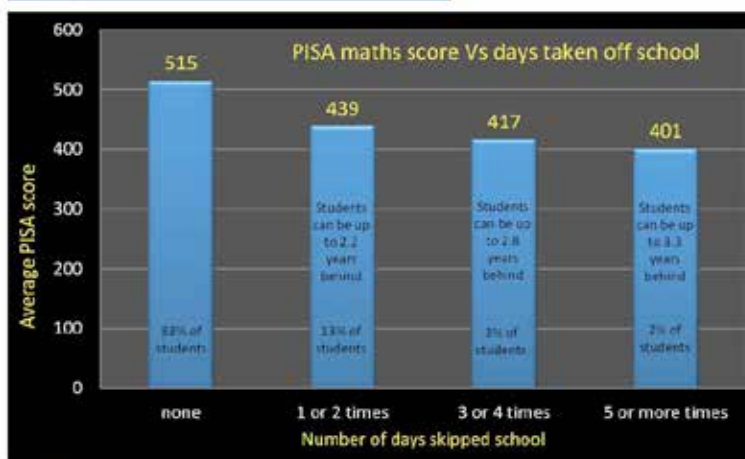

Student Achievement is closely linked to attendance and punctuality as shown in the graphs.

QCC EnviroClub gets off to a great start

The newly created QCC student environmental club got off to a great start this term. In the first week back we created forty five tasting stations and installed them amongst the pines at the back of the school. Thirty nine of those tasting stations (consisting of plastic card and peanut butter) were nibbled on by a range of rodents, mostly rats, mice and possums. Last week some of the EnviroClub students learnt about a range of traps, and installed seven rat/mouse traps at the back of the school. Peanut butter was the lure. A quick check this Monday revealed no trapped rodents! Levels of peanut butter were checked and traps reset!

Level 2 Geography Fieldtrip to Wellington Studies Urban Form

In Week 2 of this term, 10 intrepid geographers and their teacher Ms Tyrrell (supported by Ann Wood), visited Wellington for three days to study the changing urban form of Wellington City.

The information and data collected is being used by the students as evidence for an internal achievement standard.

In particular the group was interested in describing how town planning design varies within Wellington and explaining why. Furthermore we looked at how street design changed over time, and also the reasons for this. The itinerary included the National Library/New Zealand Archives, Wellington Museum (formerly the Museum of City and Sea), the Te Aro pa site, Mt Victoria and the Petone Settlers Museum.

Well done to all of the students, it was an awesome learning experience. Special thanks to Kate Potter at the National Library for organising a stimulating itinerary, and the University of Victoria for supplying the tailor-made achievement standard assessment.

Trip to Japan Dinner Auction

Saturday 27 August

With only five weeks to go until departure, the prospect of living within a foreign culture and finally exercising the communication skills learnt over several years is becoming much more real for the eleven students traveling to Japan.

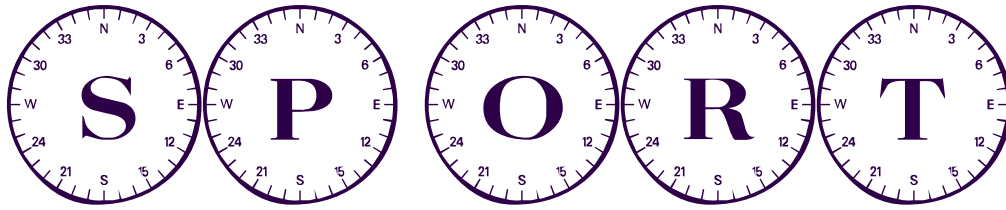

The 'over a year' of hard work raising funds is all but over. The final major fundraiser is a dinner/auction to be held at the college on the 27th of August.

With all of our fundraising to date we have provided goods or a service. This is the one occasion when we reluctantly go hand out to our community for support. As always we are humbled by the response from individuals and organisations.

If you wish to support the students' efforts, and are able to contribute an item to be auctioned, it will be gratefully received. There are also tickets available to the dinner.

Please contact David Collins at the school, or by email: dcollins@qcc.school.nz

Basketball

Having a Ball on the West Coast

Recently a team of our senior Basketball girls travelled to Greymouth to play in a weekend mini-tournament. The girls acquitted themselves admirably, winning their first game on the Saturday but losing the next two games the following day by narrow margins.

Rosie Buchanan-Brown orchestrated the play execution, usually one-handed. Emily Overend and Jessica Cameron made a formidable pair under the basket at both ends. Gemma O'Rourke and Nikita McGrannachan-Maru worked tirelessly and with good humour. Brylee Stammers displayed great stamina and was on point with her three point shots. Laura Woolf asserted herself with controlled aggression. Kavana Love provided subbing support when the girls flagged.

The girls left a good impression, enjoying the opportunities to make new acquaintances, especially Gemma.

We are grateful to Nan Buchanan-Brown for her effortless control of the logistics and her positive encouragement.

QCC's best results came from Hunter Bendell 4th in the Year 7 Boys race and Lea Polleti 8th in the Year 7 Girls cross country.

Connor Hillgrove, Ryley Thom-Parker, Mario Moody, Abbey Moody and Mikah Lawrence also represented the College well and enjoyed their day.
